Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

A GOOD investment for the City of Hope would be the purchase of a police "blotter." Rumors have risen in Hope after certain trials in the municipal court that the defendant was arrested by the night police on one charge and brought into court by the day "force" on a reduced charge. The Star has looked into more than one such rumor—but the truth can't be ascertained one way or the other, because local police procedure doesn't require that the arresting officer actually write down the charge against the defendant. And when nothing is written down, nothing is certain.

Landon Lead Drops Slightly as Digest Polls Nine States

But G.O.P. Strength Gains in Pennsylvania, Holds in New York

SOUTH HEARD FROM

Oklahoma and Texas Turn in Majorities for Roosevelt

Landon's lead over Roosevelt decreases to less than 2 to 1 in the second week's report of The Literary Digest's 10,000,000-ballot Presidential straw poll.

Landon is shown receiving 61,190 votes and Roosevelt 33,423 with Lemke trailing the two major candidates with 4,169 out of a total of 99,734 ballots reported.

Thomas is indicated receiving slightly over one-half of the balance of 1 per cent of the total vote cast to date which is divided among the other four candidates.

Votes are now tallied from Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas for the first time.

The balloting in Maine shows a decline percentage-wise for Landon from more than 3 to 1 last week to a little over 2 to 1 this week.

New York continues to vote approximately the same the second week as it did the first, over 2 to 1 for Landon.

The Republican lead in Pennsylvania is noted as increasing as the volume of ballots reported from the Keystone state nearly triples in the second week's tally.

The first returns from Texas show a lead of well over 4 to 1 for Roosevelt.

Oklahoma's first votes are meager but give Roosevelt 712 votes to Landon's 618.

The early ballots from Ohio give Landon more than a 3 to 2 lead over Roosevelt with 3,293 votes marked for the Republican candidate to 2,193 ballots in favor of the Democratic nominee.

An addition of over 11,000 votes from New Jersey increases Landon's last week lead of over 2 to 1 fractionally.

On the basis of an Electoral College division so far Landon would receive 155 votes to Roosevelt's 34.

An analysis of how the same voters voted in 1932 indicates that 5,648 of the 50,916 poll voters who voted officially for Hoover four years ago now intend to vote for Roosevelt, while 10,592 of the 34,868 poll voters who mark their ballots as voting for Roosevelt four years ago indicate they will vote for Landon in 1936.

Lemke receives his largest share of any state vote in Minnesota where his tally is nearly 95 per cent of the total there so far.

The Union candidate receives less than 5 per cent of Oklahoma's vote with his share ranging between the two ratios in the other six states from which ballots are reported.

The analysis of the past political preferences of the voters shows that

High School Will Enroll Students Starting Monday

Seventh Grade Is to Report at High School at 2:30 Thursday

THE GRADES, FRIDAY

Hope Public Schools to Open for Fall Term on September 21

Arrangements which have been going forward for the opening of school will have their final touch next week when the hosts of school children of the Hope Public School system will enroll for its opening morning, September 21.

High school students will enroll at the high school building beginning Monday morning, September 14. Instructors will be at the building to assist students in making out their schedules for the coming year. The hours for enrolling students will be from 8:30 to 12 o'clock and no enrollments will be taken during the afternoon hours. High school students are urged to make their enrollment as early as possible. No time will be given from school hours the following week for that purpose. The purpose of pre-enrollment is to save waste or loss of time from the regular school work which begins the following Monday.

The 7th Grade
The 7th grade will report at the high school building on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 to go through their schedule so as to acquaint the students with the routine of the high school. Every student enrolling in the 7th grade is expected to be in his place so that final instruction may be given him.

The elementary students will meet with their teachers and principals on Friday morning at 9 o'clock, September 18th.

Buses will bring in those living outside of the city of Hope Friday morning in time for enrollment.

The initial teachers meeting will be held at the home economic building at the high school on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, September 17. This is a change from the previous arrangement.

Birthday by Nov. 2
All children who will be 5 years old on or before November 2, which is the first six weeks after the date of the opening of school, will be enrolled the first two weeks of the new school year.

Vaccination for smallpox is a state requirement and those children who have not been vaccinated will have to be before enrollment can be taken.

Speaks at Charlotte
CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(P)—A cheering, soppy wet audience heard President Roosevelt assert Thursday that the nation has rounded the corner toward prosperity but that individual liberties have not been removed and inherent rights of the sovereign states have not been invaded along the way.

The president, soaked by a heavy downpour, spoke to thousands of persons assembled from seven states at the "Green Pastures" rally in Charlotte's municipal stadium.

A cloudburst earlier in the afternoon delayed him nearly an hour en route from Asheville. Rain began pelted down again as the Roosevelt cavalcade of cars wound through packed Charlotte streets through the deluge.

He presided at the rally in an open car, minus even a raincoat, but smiling broadly and waving his hat unceasingly.

The sun came out as he left his auto and stepped into the speaker's platform. A burst of applause rang out as he remarked at the outset that he "noticed that a rainbow shines in the sky."

Rally officials estimated 30,000 people were jammed into the WPA-built bowl and clustered around its rim.

The president built his address around the Biblical lyric of the "Green Pastures" and "still waters" of the Twenty-third Psalm and around a theme of greater prosperity throughout the nation. Here and there he touched issues on which pre-election politics has focused.

He placed the depression period definitely in the past, referring to it as "that historic corner," and maintained that his administration had created a "definite upturn."

Two Hurt in Crash on East Third St.

Harry Nichols Sustains Fractured Skull—Frankie Barr Also Injured

Frankie Barr, formerly Hope High School football player, and Harry Nichols of Hope, were injured shortly after 3 p. m. Friday when their motorcycle crashed into an automobile on East Third street.

They were rushed to Julia Chester hospital where physicians described Nichols' condition as critical. He has a fractured skull and other injuries. Barr is not seriously hurt, but is badly lacerated.

Reports said they were hurled about 20 feet into the air when the motorcycle they were riding attempted to pass an automobile and crashed into a rear fender of it.

They were rushed to Julia Chester hospital where physicians described Nichols' condition as critical. He has a fractured skull and other injuries. Barr is not seriously hurt, but is badly lacerated.

Hope Bobcats Warm Up for the Opening Game Against Ashdown

1. The floodlights are good enough to play football under, but are "zero" as regards the making of pictures. The white flare in the foreground of the picture is from The Star's own photo-flash equipment. The black background, which was illuminated only by the floodlights, shows how ineffective the field lights are for the making of pictures.

2. The press camera is limited to actions taking place within 50 feet of the photo-flash lamp—which means only plays close to the sideline.

3. At the extreme range, 50 feet, the fastest timing in order to obtain satisfactory light is 1/50th of a second, although the press camera in daylight works up to 1/1000th of a second.)

Heavy Losses for Island Attackers

Spanish Rebels Claim Victory in Engagement at Mallorca

BURGOS, Spain.—(Copyright Associated Press)—The rebel nationalist junta announced Friday that more than 2,000 Spanish government troops had been killed in an ill-fated attack on the island of Mallorca.

The attack occurred September 4, the junta announced.

The newspaper Diario de Burgos said a final attack on San Sebastian, in the north, is imminent, and negotiations for the surrender of that city failed because the government defenders demanded unmolested removal of Red militiamen to Bilbao, to aid the defense there.

Attack San Sebastian
SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain.—(Cy Warship to Saint Jean de Luz, France)—Spanish rebels Thursday launched a heavy attack on the government-held city of San Sebastian.

Hostilities had been halted 24 hours ago by an unofficial armistice, and the surrender of the city had been expected momentarily.

The assault began on three fronts with terrific artillery bombardment. The rebels had refused to accept anything less than unconditional surrender of the city, reliable sources said.

Government defenders fled from Hernani, two miles and a half from San Sebastian, after rebel shells killed four persons and wounded eight.

Citizens Rush to Leave
Mass evacuation of San Sebastian increased, with thousands of refugees jamming docks and scrambling for places aboard foreign warships and Spanish freighters in the Bay of Biscay.

The French ambassador, M. Herbet, nearly got into a fist fight with a Communist guard who sought to prevent him from embarking on the French torpedo boat Alcayon.

Mme. Herbet's arm was bruised when she was jostled by the excited crowd.

A French newspaperman, Maurice Leroy, arrested by government forces in the city and accused of being a rebel spy, was released after Ambassador Herbet intervened.

Despite the apparent breakdown of truce negotiations, foreign consulate officials declared that they were confident San Sebastian would surrender before rebel troops entered its streets.

Burgos Nationalists determined to save the city from destruction.

There were "strong indications" that the rebels also would agree to terms rather than wreck the famous summer resort.

Bank Holdings Transferred
San Sebastian banks sent all cash and securities—including foreigners' holdings—to Bilbao. Consular officers protested this action to municipal Gov. Antonio Ortega, declaring the act was illegal and discriminatory.

Government tankers began transferring gas and oil supplies to Bilbao. An

Gates of Local Stadium to Open at 7:15 Friday Night, With Kickoff Half an Hour Later

The kick-off, set for 7:45 p. m. Friday, officially opens the gridiron season here between the Hope High School Bobcats and Ashdown High School.

Coach Foy Hammons said at noon Friday that his team was in good shape for the tussle. "We have no cripples and all the boys are feeling fine," said Hammons and let it go at that.

The Bobcats will enter the game as favorites. The team is the heaviest in recent years, and a veteran can be placed in each position.

The line averages 175 pounds from end to end. The backfield is heavy and fast, averaging 161 pounds.

Gates Open at 7:15
Gates at the high school stadium will open at 7:15 p. m. A faculty member will be at a special table near the entrance to sell season tickets to students at 50 cents. General admission tickets can be obtained at Hope Confectionery, Corner Drug store and Jackson's Newsstand.

To avoid a rush at the gate, Coach Hammons urged that as many persons as possible purchase tickets at one of the three downtown stores. Adult tickets can be purchased for 50 cents each.

Coach Hammons said at noon that he had not received the lineup of the Ashdown team, scheduled to arrive here Friday afternoon.

Officials will be: Referee—Bill Summerville, Henderson State Teachers college; Umpire—Bert Thompson, U. of A.; Headline man—Jack Robinson, U. of A.; Timekeeper—Earl O'Neil, Hendrix.

The Lineup

Coach Hammons said that several reserve players would see action, including Ponder, Galloway, Eason, Brady, Wilson, Linaker, D. Parsons, Aslin and Cook.

Hope WPA Chief in Motor Crash; Child Dying Here

Veteran Malvern Publisher, Saratoga Teacher Collide Near Gurdon

3 IN PEEBLES CAR

Saratoga Principal's 10-Months-Old Baby Is Critically Injured

Claude Mann, about 56, District Five WPA director, Hope, was critically hurt in an automobile collision near Gurdon Thursday night in which three other persons, all of Hempstead county, were injured.

Mann was reported to have sustained a fractured pelvis, broken left hip and lacerations on the face. He was in the Baptist State hospital at Little Rock Friday.

Child Critically Hurt
Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Peebles and small son Milton, of Saratoga, were in Julia Chester hospital here. Milton, 10-months-old, was reported dying of a severe head injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Peebles are less seriously hurt. Mr. Peebles has lacerations about the face and bruises. Mrs. Peebles sustained a leg laceration and cuts about the face. Their condition is not believed serious.

The accident occurred five miles north of Gurdon on Highway No. 57 about 10 p. m. Mr. Mann, driving alone, was en route from Hope to his home at Malvern.

Mr. and Mrs. Peebles and son were returning to their home at Saratoga from a vacation visit with relatives in Smyrna, Tenn.

Reports said that Mann, blinded by lights of the Peebles car, drove off the pavement onto a wet shoulder of the road and in attempting to get back his car struck the automobile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Peebles and son.

Cars Demolished
So terrific was the crash that both automobiles were demolished.

A Gurdon ambulance brought the Peebles family to Julia Chester hospital here.

An Arkadelphia ambulance rushed Mr. Mann to Arkadelphia where he was given first aid at the Townsend sanitarium and then removed to the Baptist State hospital in Little Rock.

Mr. Mann has been director of the District WPA office in Hope since June, 1935, coming here from Malvern where he is publisher of the Malvern Meteor-Journal.

Mr. Peebles is principal of the Saratoga school and was to begin his third term there Monday. He is also pastor of the Church of Christ at Nashville.

Best Treatment for Constipation Is Finding and Eliminating Cause

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Mildest among cathartics used now, a day's mineral oil, and mineral oil modified by various substances. This oil is a lubricant which relieves constipation by mixing with the material in the bowel, softening it and permitting easier passage along the intestinal tract.

It is generally considered to be the best preparation in cases of chronic constipation. It is not fattening, as are other oils, because it is not absorbed by the bowels. The usual dose is one tablespoonful or two.

Incidentally, mineral oil is the basis for most graying materials used in the nose in the presence of colds or inflammation.

Sometimes mineral oil is modified by the addition of a substance called agar, a form of seaweed. This aids in developing the bulk of the material and will prevent possible leakage of the oil from the orifice of the body.

Mineral oil has also been modified by the addition of strong laxative materials, such as cascara and phenolphthalein. Cascara is a plant laxative made from the bark of a tree. It is available not only mixed with mineral oil and agar, but also in the form of extracts and aromatic mixtures.

Phenolphthalein is a recently discovered laxative now widely popularized as the basis of most advertised laxative remedies.

This substance, which is a coal tar derivative, acts on the large intestines as a purgative. Some people are especially sensitive to phenolphthalein and respond to its use with eruptions on the skin.

It is not safe to develop the cathartic or laxative habit. Constipation, as will be pointed out later in this series, is much better treated by determining its causes and eliminating that cause, and also by use of enough fluid and enough fruits, vegetables, and similar laxative material in the diet.

Severe and chronic cases of constipation should not be self-treated. Much quicker and safer results will be secured by consulting a competent physician.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Why is it that some young people can tackle a job right off while others cannot even think of the same task without a shudder? The latter were themselves out just thinking about it, and when they do eventually apply themselves it is with distaste and fatigue.

The answer is simple. When they were little, and growing, they never were made to do anything they did not like to do. It never became second-nature to face something that had to be done, and get it out of the way. As the years went on, their interest lay in certain grooves, such as study, and they considered others as too little of effort sufficient. There was not enough diversity in their work to make all work acceptable later.

Can't Reshape Plans

This is why so many young men and young women, prepared for certain careers, are so spiritually unhappy when they must enter some other work. The girl who has prepared for advertising will work hard along that line if she can find her place. Later she is married and finds herself washing dishes and buying four hamburgers for supper. She is sick and unhappy, not because she is overwhelmed either by sacrifice or work, but because she can't adapt herself to work outside her groove. The man follows suit. He finds himself selling silk, and perhaps at a very livable wage. But he is too tired at night to eat, not because he is physically exhausted at all, but because he has been fighting his disappointment over not having found a job at electrical engineering, for which he was educated.

All children are trained to work-habit in school. Many of them receive some training at home. Others none. But few children are given opportunity to develop a quick change of attitude toward all work, and compliance to circumstances.

Adaptability Needed

It is a very wise mother who can instill in her child a quick willingness to make the best of things and to be ready to help with any job, no matter what turns up. The wise mother, moreover, does not plan far ahead for her offspring and insist that he is to do what she educates him for, or nothing. If he is too set in his ambitions in one direction, the fall will be his ruin. He won't be able to give up one idea for another. This need not interfere with definite preparation. That is always best. But it prevents the fixing of sentiment that kills if hopes are blasted.

The boy or girl who can go at an unexpected job when very young will be the happiest in later life. Change his tasks. Give him a taste of everything. Emotional agility is as important as physical dexterity. The work-habit is far more important than the work itself.

Hollywood

By Paul Harrison

HOLLYWOOD—Romance in talkie-town is like those self-liquidating projects the New Deal is always talking about. It pays its own way.

Courtship for the average young fellow is likely to be, at worst, a severe strain on the purse. But when a man star begins beaming a lady star around the gay spots, and showering her with emerald and star-sapphire trinkets, the result is money in the box offices and nice bonuses for the principals, whose popularity is heightened.

The salute Mr. Charles Chaplin has had it all figured out for a good many years—since the time, in fact, when his rumored romance with Pola Negri boomed the value of the pictures of both.

The Claire Windsor romance didn't do a bit of harm, either. And now, of course, there's Paulette Goddard.

Unquestionably, the fans are more interested in Chaplin and Miss Goddard while the picture's private relationship remains a mystery than they would be if they knew that the comedian and his leading lady were married.

Honest Romance

The studios themselves serve as matchmakers for prominent young players, and are quick to take advantage of romances that spring up voluntarily.

Jean Harlow and William Powell might have been teamed in "Libeled Lady" even if they were not so much interested in each other off the screen.

August Best for Industry Since '30

Except for February, 1930, Was Best Month Since Year 1929

By the Associated Press

Industrial activity in August was the best for any month, with the exception of February 1930, since 1929. The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index averaged 95.4, against 93.8 a month ago, and 73.1 in the same month last year.

Three major industrial classifications moved up to new highs for the year during the period—cotton manufacturing, electric power and residential building.

Cotton cloth output boomed to a level that has been reached but once in the last decade, and then during the inflationary bulge in 1935. Stocks are reported low compared to production and the industry's backlog is said to be large.

Power output moved into new high ground, with the summer heat and 8,000,000-odd electric refrigerators working to this end.

The sharp decline in automobile production during the month resulted from shut-downs in some of the plants to change over for new 1937 models.

Freight carloadings dipped moderately, with curtailed shipments of grains due to the drought the principal cause.

Another Bitter Opponent of 'Regimentation'

According to estimates, the human heart beats 72 times a minute, 104,000 times a day, 38,000,000 times a year. Oregon's Elk lake is situated a mile above sea level.

The decorator's art was not applied to making clocks ornamental as well as useful until the 17th century. France was the first country to manufacture fancy timepieces.

Disinfection of water supplies of U. S. Cities with chlorine has reduced the annual death rate from typhoid fever from 25 to 4 to 100,000 of population.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DUNN, pretty young nurse, applied for a job as stewardess on Overland Airways. In the Overland office she encountered TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot of Trans-Pacific Airways, and largely due to his intervention, she is accepted for a trial period.

Two other girls, DORIS LEE and ALICE MILLER, are accepted on the same basis.

Kay, excited over winning the job, stops to tell Graham the news. He asks her to go to lunch with himself and BENTON, personnel chief.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

KAY DUNN listened eagerly to the technical talk of planes and piloting she heard in the airport restaurant. Lunching with Ted Graham and Charlie Benton, she felt that she actually had begun her new work as a stewardess.

At intervals pilots would stop at the table to speak to Graham, who introduced them to Kay. It thrilled her, too, to notice that passengers, dining in the restaurant while awaiting the arrival of planes, recognized Graham and nodded in his direction. Obviously they were wondering about the girl with the famous pilot.

After lunch Benton went back to his office and Ted took Kay on an inspection tour of the Central Airport. There was a terminal building as large as a great city railroad station and as complete—with restaurant, cafeteria, hotel, ticket office, baggage rooms and shops all under one roof.

They climbed, past the meteorological laboratories, to the roof and looked down at the elaborate network of runways on the field. It was, Kay thought, like a patchwork quilt—the smooth, yellowish concrete runways intersecting at all angles. Below was the concrete ramp where planes discharged and took on passengers.

While they watched, a big twin-motor taxied up to the gate and stopped. Porters ran out, and helped the passengers to disembark. At another gate passengers were waiting to board the plane. Luggage was piled on the ground beside them. Gay awnings fluttered in the breeze.

Away in the distance was the wharf where seaplanes taxied up to land. A giant seaplane and a cabin cruiser dipped up and down, side by side, on the glistening water. Slowly a passenger train crawled past the entrance gate, and taxis whirled up and down the landscaped driveways to the terminal entrance behind it. It was the ideal co-ordination of travel facilities on land, water and in the air. It was the most perfect symbol of the 20th century that Kay had ever seen.

"Those are the hangars there," Ted said, amusing himself by watching Kay's enraptured features. "The big one is for transport planes. The doors are go-ger, and then the flash of white which meant that he was smiling.

Suddenly Kay knew she would never, never forget that look of quiet resolution. She would never forget these hours with Ted Graham.

The plane rose, winging its way toward the west where for Graham the greatest of aviation's adventures—the trans-Pacific route—waited.

Kay turned and found the two girls, her companions of the morning, standing nearby. They, too, had been watching the plane take off.

Alice Miller spoke first. "We made the grade," she announced. "We're to go into training tonight."

Doris Lee said, "We looked everywhere for you and when we found you, you were with Ted Graham! For a gal who came here looking for a job this morning, you work fast."

Kay said, a little sadly, "He'll never give me a thought again. He's the kind that's here today and gone tomorrow."

For a moment all of them were silent, each busy with her own thoughts. Then Alice said, "Tonight we're all to go as passengers on a plane to New York. It's a training flight."

THEY were inspecting a new luxury liner, along with some tourists, when they saw two young men in uniforms stepping down from the plane. The men were talking in a confidential tone, but not too low for the girls to hear.

"I understand we've got three new stewardesses trying out on the line," one of them said. "Not bad looking, I heard one of the mechanics say. If you get a line on them let me know."

"Sure thing," the other said and laughed.

The two men moved on and Kay and Alice passed amused glances. Doris, however, was indignant. She tousled her blond hair, and her pretty features took on an ominous scowl.

"Not bad looking, eh!" she stormed. "Listen, girls, let's organize for our mutual protection. We might as well call ourselves the Three Musketeers, and if the boys around the airport don't give us our rights, they'd better watch out!"

Kay laughed. "I guess you're right, though it looks safe enough around here to me."

Doris was adamant. "I know men! Didn't I work in an insane asylum for two years?"

Kay cried out with laughter. "Now get this straight," Doris went on. "They may look romantic when they're dressed up for parade in flying tops. They've got money jingling in their pockets and they like a good time. But here's the thing for you to remember. All these pilots are wedded to the air! And until one of them actually hauls you to a minister, and puts a ring on your hand, you're wedded to the air, too!"

ing up now. That's all done by electricity."

SHE turned to him and smiled. "There was too much at the airport to take in at this first inspection."

"It's nice of you," she said, "to show me all this. I don't know why you should. This morning when I came out here, looking for the job as stewardess on Overland Airways, I'll admit I was a little afraid."

"I'm not surprised," Ted said. "Strange surroundings, new people. A new job in any line is bad enough."

In the bright sunlight Kay's eyes glistened. "I kept thinking about my brother who died in the air."

Ted touched her arm with a comradely gesture. "I flew in the war, too, but we—my observer and I—had better luck. We're still flying. And that war was a long time ago."

Both stared out into the limitless spaces, and then Ted turned. "There's my plane," he said. "Right on the dot. I'll have to go down now. Will you come and see me off?"

Seventh Day Adventists Permitted to Vote Late

KEENE, Texas—(AP)—Residents of this village cast their ballots in state elections after all other polls have been closed.

Keene is inhabited by a colony of Seventh Day Adventists, who observe the Sabbath from Sunset Friday to Sunset Saturday. Texas elections are on Saturday and polls here are held open until after 8 p. m., an hour after the regular closing time, so Keene citizens may vote after their Sabbath ends.

First Kidnaping in Eden, Says Herrell

Evangelist Tells of Seizure of Man From God by the Devil

The greatest kidnaping case in history had its setting in the Garden of Eden, the Rev. Paul Herrell, evangelist, told a small crowd Thursday night at the Nazarene revival meeting.

He told how God, the Father, created man, and how the devil enticed Eve to partake of the fruit.

"From that moment on all humanity was kidnaped from God, the Father. The ransom required to get them back was God's only son, Christ," the evangelist declared.

"Christ paid the ransom, yet some do not return home. They are in conspiracy with the devil and they will receive the same punishment that the devil deals out," he concluded.

The Rev. Mr. Herrell's subject Friday night will be "What Think Ye of Christ." The revival ends Sunday night.

In spite of their enormous size, whole sharks are quite harmless. Even when chased and harpooned, they seldom turn on their captors.

Marshall, talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall, will study in Boston, Mass., this winter as a memorial scholarship pupil, made possible by a cousin, who has given this opportunity as a memorial to a son, whose untimely death prevented the pursuit of a musical career. For the past several months, Miss Marshall attended the Chicago Musical college and won a scholarship with Silvio Scionti. She has majored in composition and has been highly commended for her work in this direction.

The Clara Lowthorpe chapter, C. of C. held its September meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Haynes, West Second street, with Miss Mary Ann Lee as joint hostess. The guests were received at the door by the hostesses and presented to the receiving line by Miss Evelyn Bryant. Those in the receiving line were Misses Daisy Dorothy Heard, Martha Ann Singleton, Mary Cornelia Holloway, and Marjorie Waddle, all officers of the chapter. The president, Miss Heard opened the meeting with the salute to the Confederate flag. During the business session, she also introduced the chapter directors, Mrs. Edgar Bryant and Mrs. Chas. Haynes. A very interesting program followed, opening with a talk on Raphael Semmes by Miss Marjorie Waddle. A beautiful piano selection was played by Miss Martha Houston and a very pleasing poem, "Echoes From Dixie," was read by Miss Martha Ann Singleton. Following the program, the guests were invited into the garden where delightful punch was served with tempting sandwiches. The officers of the chapter were invited guests. For the occasion, the Haynes home was beautifully and appropriately decorated with crepe myrtle, the beautiful flowers so typical of the South land. The flag used in the salute was the handsome large one belonging to the State Division of the C. of C.

The following clipped from the Friday Texarkana Gazette will be of interest to the many friends of Miss Marshall in this city: "Miss Mary Bell

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

The Council in Jerusalem

Text: Acts 15:1-35; Galatians 2:1-10. The coming into the early church of Gentile converts brought problems that might have seemed easy of solution; but were difficult because the Jewish converts brought with them into their new faith in Jesus the faith and forms of Judaism.

Paul did not think of himself as less a Jew because he was a follower of Jesus. On the contrary, he believed that, in accepting Jesus as the Messiah, he was following out the teachings and prophecies of the religion in which he had been trained. Thus he said that he worshiped the God of his Fathers, though it was in the way that his former associates called heresy.

The most acute problem that confronted the church concerned the matter of circumcision. This was a rite that occupied much the same place in Judaism that baptism has occupied in the Christian church; and if we think of the Jewish converts as narrow-minded and attaching undue importance to forms in asserting that the Gentile converts to Christianity should be circumcised, we need only imagine what would happen even today if someone insisted upon a new use of Judaism.

The council at Jerusalem decided that it was not necessary that the Gentile converts should be circumcised. All that was required of them was that they should fulfill the moral law.

The momentous nature of this decision can hardly be overemphasized. It meant that, in the first great issue that faced the church, the decision was for reality and not for form. It meant that the new religion was to be as broad as humanity in its scope, and not merely a new use of Judaism.

It would be well if the church has always met similar issues with the same sanity of vision, and with the same largeness of view.

Again and again through less wise decisions of churches and church leaders, things "too good to be borne" have been imposed upon new converts, things that had little to do with the fundamental matter of true character and loyalty to Christ.

Christians learn slowly to put first things first. The history of the church is a history of cleaving creeds, forms, practices, and sometimes prejudices to the place that only Christ should have in the Christian heart and mind and in the Christian fellowship.

archists attempted to fire the tanks but they were prevented by the less militant Basque Nationalists.

Food and water shortage in the city was rapidly becoming acute, and the insurgent circle around the city prevented the arrival of fresh supplies.

The French torpedo boat Alevon escorted a French freighter taking 600 tons of food to Santander and food also was brought to Bilbao by a French destroyer. Both cities are farther west along Spain's northern coast.

The supplies were destined for French residents in Santander and Bilbao. French residents in Santander and Bilbao, French boats did not bring provisions to San Sebastian as virtually all French citizens had been evacuated from this city.

Landon Lead Drops

Lemke is drawing his strength from the major parties at the ratio of approximately four Democratic to one Republican voter of 1932.

"The Literary Digest's Presidential Poll of more than 10,000,000 voters swings into its third week," the magazine states in its columns.

"It now shows the original handful of 24,000—odd ballots quadrupled to 97,754. It shows preliminary returns in selected sections of five new states, as the tabulators dip below the Mason and Dixon line to size up two states nominally heavily Democratic—Texas and Oklahoma.

"It shows Governor Landon leading in three Mid-Western farm states—Ohio, Minnesota and Indiana—on early returns. And it shows President Roosevelt whittling his opponent's first returns margin of more than 2 to 1 in the original four states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maine—to slightly under 2 to 1.

"Will the New Deal leader continue to close the gap as tens of thousands of incoming returns, this week and every week until November? Will the man in the White House reach and pass the man in Topeka, Kansas, at the half-million mark—the million mark?"

"Only the final results can tell, but here is what happened in Maine's column from the first week to the second: From a lead of 1,331 to 522 more than 3 to 1, the Landon margin dropped to 4,826 to 2,179 (only a little more than 2 to 1).

"That change in political fortune amply illustrates what The Literary Digest means by its warning to the public: These are only the scattering early returns; the leadership may shift again and again during the progress of the poll."

German Seaplane Lands in New York

Is Pioneering Trans-Atlantic Route From the Azores to U. S.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The German flying boat Aolus was only 150 miles from its goal shortly before noon Friday on its flight from the Azores to Bermuda. It was expected to reach its destination five hours later.

First One Arrives
PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y.—(AP)—A team of four Germans, exploring the southern air route of the north Atlantic, arrived here Thursday after a flight of 22 hours, 14 minutes from the Azores.

They landed their 10-ton flying boat, the Zephyr, at 5:24 p. m. with 2,300 miles of nonstop flying behind them. The trip was in preparation for a projected regular air service across the Atlantic.

The Zephyr will be followed on its trip to New York late Thursday night or Friday by its sister boat, the Aolus, which will come by way of Bermuda, reaching weather conditions and radio reception along that route.

The Zephyr was catapulted from the Lufthansa base ship, Schwabenland lying 100 miles off Horta, in the island of Fayal, at 7:10 p. m. (B.S.T.) Wednesday night.

The Aolus was catapulted Tuesday night but was forced by storms to turn back after completing 500 miles of her course, which lay for Bermuda. Compressed air cylinders shot the heavy

Howard County's All-Stars to Play

Will Oppose Lumberjacks at Fair Park Sunday Afternoon

The Howard County All-Stars, a baseball aggregation picked from teams of Okay, Nashville and Mineral Springs, will play the Lumberjacks at Fair Park Sunday afternoon.

Richardson of Nashville, who pitched the Lumberjacks early in the season, will hurl Sunday afternoon.

Manager Lloyd Coop said Friday that he would send Ray McDowell against the All-Stars.

The Lumberjacks took a double-header from Okay here recently and held early season victories over Nashville.

Manager Coop said that he wished to apologize to the large crowd that gathered at Fair Park last Sunday where a game was scheduled between Hope and Benton, the latter failing to appear.

"I haven't heard yet why the Benton team failed to show up. They simply let us down and have offered no explanation," Coop declared.

The game here Sunday will begin at 3:30.

Roberson Appeals in Auto Judgment

Hope Man's Attorneys Assert Wife Can't Testify Against Husband

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—J. J. Roberson, Hope, asked the Arkansas Supreme Court Friday to set aside a Hempstead circuit court verdict which awarded his wife $5,000 for injuries suffered when the car he was driving overturned.

Roberson's attorneys asked a reversal on the contention that a wife could not testify against her husband.

ST. CHARLES, Mo.—(AP)—At least five men were killed when 18 freight and oil cars of a Missouri-Kansas-Texas train were derailed and burned Thursday night 20 miles southwest of here.

Rescuers expressed fear Friday that several other transients may have been burned to death.

On the Firing Line in Spain's Grim Civil War

Congress Is Rich Prize of Campaign

Senate Safely Democratic, But House Is Subject to Change

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

The special importance of the congressional elections of 1936 is amply attested by the close attention which is centering upon them from the headquarters of the two major parties.

Most of this solicitude on the part of the national leaders escapes general notice. The activities of the presidential campaign itself not only are more spectacular in a national sense, but they are more readily followed by the public from day to day. One big show is easier to watch than many smaller shows, all going at once.

In its physical and technical sense, every campaign for congress is a local matter. The tendency of almost all voters is to be interested in the congressional elections in their own respective districts, and pay little attention to those in other districts, or to what the sum total of them all may be.

The party leaders, however, are fully alive to the national aspects of the case. They do not advertise all that they do about congressional campaigns, for they hope to escape all suspicion of outside interference in any situation which might be considered local.

This year, especially, these leaders not only are on the alert, but they are active, for special reasons.

G. O. P. Situation Peculiar
For the Republicans the situation is a peculiar one, without precedent in recent years.

The Republicans cannot attain a majority in the senate next session, no matter what they do. With only one-third of the senate membership coming up at a time, the Democrats are sure of a majority even if every Republican senatorial nominee is elected this fall.

That means that if Governor Landon wins, he is certain to find one branch of congress controlled by the opposition party; and it makes imperative an especially vigorous attempt to return a Republican majority in the house.

But the Democrats also have their problem. The senate is safely Democratic, but it happens that it is the house which originates the "money bills" that are certain to play so great a part in legislative policy during the next four years.

If Mr. Roosevelt is reelected, how far could he hope to get with his program with the drafting of appropriations and revenue measures in the hands of Republicans?

Such questions are not exactly new, but they are coming home with greater and greater force as election day nears.

New Influences Figure
Moreover, there are still other factors which have received little notice hitherto, but which begin to stand out in greater relief as the campaign develops.

Within each party there are numerous subdivisions. If Mr. Landon could count on the legislative support of everyone elected as a Republican, or Mr. Roosevelt could rely on the vote of everyone elected as a Democrat, the situation would be far more simple than it is.

The Townsends are making a nationwide campaign to elect a powerful bloc of their own to congress, under whatever party label. The followers of Father Coughlin are endeavoring to do the same.

All along the line new influences and new considerations are qualifying former party affiliations.

So the congressional campaign has become, altogether, one of the most interesting and complicated on record. It is a pity that its wide diffusion, geographically and with respect to issues, prevents the electorate as a whole from getting any comprehensive view of it or understanding fully its great possibilities.

Begs a Chance to Reach Kidnapers

Father of Browe Child Asks Public to Stay Away From His Door

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—The grief-stricken father of little Harry Browe, missing since last Saturday, appealed to the public Friday to give the kidnapers, if the 20-month-old boy is a victim of abduction, a clear path to open negotiations for his return.

"Ever since our son has been missing our house has been an attraction for hundreds of curious persons," said Robert Browe, the father.
